

Harvard Referencing Guide

Referencing is the process of acknowledging other people's work when you have used it in your assignment or research. It allows the reader to locate your source material as quickly and easily as possible so that they can read these sources themselves and verify the validity of your arguments. Referencing provides the link between what you write and the evidence on which it is based (Pears and Shields, 2016).

This text is the University standard guide for Harvard Referencing:

Pears, R. A and Shields, G. (2016) Cite them right: the essential referencing guide. 10th edn. Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan

It is stocked in the Bookshop and the Library as a print copy, and accessible online here:
